Dickens War Upon Debtors' Prison Won After a Century

A century ago Charles Dickens won world acclaim for exposing the plight of unhappy minor debtors who were thrown into England's frightful jails.

While today's English prisons are a vast improvement over the Old Fleet and Newgate jails of Dickens' time, still, it was a mortifying spectacle for a civilized nation to confine free men just because they owed a few dollars.

But today England has set free a considerable percentage of those jailed for debt. Freed are those who fell behind on commercial paper—letting automobile notes or tailor bills become delinquent.

But England will still send you to jail for failure to pay maintenance, taxes, fines, or social security fees.

What brought about this reform? It wasn't entirely the result of Dickens' outcry.

The British suddenly woke up to the fact that to jail and feed a prisoner cost $48 a week. All the old laws did was stimulate private debt collections at the expense of the public taxpayer.

So came this happy ending.

Israel Fights Guerrillas for 6 Hours

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Israeli troops battled Palestinian guerrillas for six hours today in the hills of southern Lebanon, commando sources reported in Beirut, the Lebanese capital.

The fighting centered around the village of Hebbariye, on the western slopes of Mt. Hermon. The guerrillas commandos asserted Israeli units moved four miles into Lebanon and opened the attack with armored cars and halftracks.

A spokesman for Al Fatah, the largest guerrillas group said the Palestinians fought back with antitank guns, rockets and machine guns.

Witnesses said the fighting later spread 15 miles north of Hebbariye to the hills overlooking the Lebanese town of Gachaya.

Commando sources in Beirut said there were casualties on both sides but declined to give figures.

The Israeli command declined to comment on the fighting report.

An increasing number of guerrillas have moved into south Lebanon after their defeat by the Jordanian army.

In Egypt, President Anwar Sadat laid down new conditions before he would sign an agreement to reopen the Suez Canal.

He said Israel must agree to withdraw completely from the Sinai peninsula within six months after it begins its withdrawal from the east bank of the Suez Canal.

Otherwise, Sadat told the Arab Socialist Union in Cairo Sunday, Egypt will go to war to liberate all territories occupied by Israel in the 1967 war.

Russia, India Sign 20-Year Peace Treaty

By MYRON L. BELKIND

Associated Press Writer
NEW DELHI (AP) — India and the Soviet Union signed a 20-year treaty of "peace, friendship and cooperation" today which in effect put the Russians firmly on the side of the Indians in their potentially explosive dispute with Pakistan.

Foreign Minister Swaran Singh said the treaty should provide a "stabilizing factor in favor of peace" in Asia. "It is also a treaty of nonaggression," he told cheering members of parliament when he informed them of the pact signed two hours earlier by him and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko.

The 12-article treaty does not commit either country to give military aid automatically to the other in the event of an attack by a third nation. Instead, the key ninth article says:

"Each high contracting party undertakes to abstain from providing any assistance to any third party that engages in armed conflict with the other party."

"In the event of either party being subjected to an attack or a threat thereof, the high contracting parties shall immediately enter into mutual consultations in order to remove such threat and to take appropriate effective measures to ensure peace and the security of their countries."

Singh told Parliament: "This should act as a deterrent to any powers that may have aggressive designs on our territorial integrity and sovereignty. It is, therefore, in essence, a treaty of peace against war."

But with tensions between India and Pakistan mounting steadily over the Pakistani army's repression of the independence movement in East Pakistan and the flight of 7 million East Pakistani refugees to India, the treaty could set the stage for a new confrontation in which Russia would side with India and Communist with Pakistan.

Killer Leaves Apology Note

DALLAS (AP) — A 6-year-old boy found the knife-hacked body of his nightclub waitress mother Sunday, along with a note reading: "I've got the wrong one. I'm sorry."

Police said they had a few clues in the murder of Carolyn Montgomery, 28.

Police said the note of apology was apparently left by the killer.

Although Autos Kill More It Is Safer Now to Take Trip in One

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

One of the paradoxes of highway travel is that, as motor cars kill more people over the years, the safer it is to take a trip in one. Despite an increase of four million more cars and trucks and three million more drivers over last year, the National Safety Council reports the traffic death rate has dropped to an alltime low—4.7 per 100 million vehicle miles traveled.

Urban pollution isn't a new problem in America. "The atmosphere in Philadelphia has caused sore eyes in many people, including my husband and myself," wrote the nation's first lady, Martha Washington, in a letter to her niece, Fanny, on April 13, 1794.

How about giving a salute today to the 15,000 living Americans who have passed their 100th birthday? May they all have a long and happy life! Speaking of the elderly, a

Bombers Hit Inside North Vietnam

By GEORGE ESPER

Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — American fighter-bombers made their 48th attack of the year inside North Vietnam Sunday, and B52 bombers attacked enemy positions one mile south of the demilitarized zone, the U.S. Command announced today.

The command said the "protective reaction" strike six miles north of the DMZ was against anti-aircraft guns that fired on an unarmed reconnaissance plane and two fighter-bombers escorting it.

The U.S. planes were not hit. The F4 pilots said they were unable to assess the damage their bombs caused because of the smoke.

The reconnaissance plane presumably was gathering photo and electronic intelligence on North Vietnamese gun sites, supply points and troop movements.

Meanwhile, three B52 bombers dropped 90 tons of bombs on suspected troop concentrations nine miles northwest of Cam Lo and a mile south of the DMZ. The raids were about four miles north of the much fought over Fire Base Fuller, which was hit with two heavy mortar barrages last week.

Six other B52s pounded suspected troop concentrations and weapons positions near the Laotian border before dawn today.

British medical researcher advances the heartening view that many of the signs of so-called senility—such as mental confusion and disorientation—are often merely the result of dietary deficiencies. "Many of the elderly," he said, "tend to live on a diet consisting of potatoes and a few slices of bread and jam."

Ahhh—choo! Hay fever is no longer an ailment merely to be sneezed away. Its 16 million victims in the United States alone spend an estimated $150 million a year for treatment of it. It can easily be avoided, however, by simply moving to a deep cave or one of the polar caps.

Worth remembering: "After several thousand years, civilization has advanced to the point where we bolt all our doors and windows at night while the jungle natives sleep in an open hut."

It was Martin Luther who observed, "To prop up a sad and discouraged mind is better than to conquer a kingdom."

Some thundershowers drifted into the southeast corner of the state this morning from Lake Village to Monticello.

In an attempt to encourage vacation travel in the United States instead of overseas, Discover America couponed its national advertising this year, offering 100 "perfect vacations" to winner of the contest. Official tourist departments of each of the 50 states volunteered two 2-week vacations in their state.

The first of Arkansas' tour winners were guests of the Greers Ferry Lake Association and spent their two weeks in the Northern part of Arkansas.

The Bernard Kiewe (pronounced Keewee) family, from Baltimore, Maryland, won the second "perfect vacation" in Arkansas. The family consists of Bernhard, his wife, Marlene, and sons, Roy, 15; Ronald, 12; Jerome, 9; Robert, 7; and Michael, 4. Their vacation began August 2nd when they arrived by plane at Hot Springs.

Two fun-filled weeks in Southwest Arkansas will include sightseeing, swimming, boating, fishing, etc.

On Friday the 13 they will be met at Murrefreesboro Crater of Diamonds by Pod Rogers of the Hope Star and his son Brad.

After a search for diamonds they will have lunch at the crater and then depart for a visit at historic Old Washington.

Friday night the Kiewes will be guests in Hope of the Hope Star and the Chamber of Commerce. Mr. and Mrs. Arch Wylie are furnishing their evening meal. On Saturday morning they are looking forward to a visit at the Lester Kent's Farm and eating some of Hope's famous watermelons.

5 Killed in Weekend Accidents

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Five persons were killed in traffic accidents in Arkansas during the past weekend. None of the fatalities occurred Sunday.

The Associated Press weekend highway fatality count began at 6 p.m. Friday and ended at midnight Sunday.

A triple fatality accident Friday night combined with two separate single-fatality accidents comprised the weekend deaths.

Miss Melba Lee, 16, of Palestine (St. Francis County) was killed early Saturday when she and a companion ran in front of a car on Arkansas 261 near Forrest City.

State Police said Miss Lee was standing beside a car parked on the wrong side of the highway. Police said the car had its lights on and an oncoming car swerved to avoid hitting the parked car and struck Miss Lee.

Miss Salley Sue Smith, 23, of Little Rock was killed Friday night when the car in which she was riding collided head-on with another car on U.S. 67 near Searcy, police said.

Edwin R. Packard, 64, Mary Packard, 50, and Ricky Bethea, 20, all of Camden were killed Friday night near Camden on Arkansas 7.

State Police said a station wagon driven by Bethea crossed the center line and struck a car driven by Mrs. Packard.

Agnew Thinks Newsmen Are Still Biased

BOSTON (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew says some coverage of his recent global trip was "totally objective and completely fair" but there was "some coverage that I thought was quite inaccurate and frankly biased to a great extent."

The Christian Science Monitor reported in its editions today. "Some of the reporters traveling with me were dismayed that I didn't provide more of what is known as a color event," the vice president said in an interview with The Monitor, "why I didn't stop and talk to some of the deprived people on the outskirts of Rabat, for example, or why I didn't show some concern about the poverty I encountered along the way."

"I can answer that by simply saying that when one is on a diplomatic mission, it requires that he be in good communication with the heads of government he is dealing with and with administrative-level people. And I can't imagine that great publicity attending the dramatization of what many people would call weaknesses in various countries would assist my diplomatic assignment."

"How would one of these countries' leaders feel if when I went to see him the day after my arrival he was greeted currently with a photograph of me shaking my head in dismay over some social problem in his country? It's not compatible with what we were trying to do there."

The vice president was interviewed in Washington by Godfrey Sperling Jr. of The Monitor.

Agnew also said he thought the coverage of his trip distorted its costs.

Results of Saturation Force Patrol

A special State Police Saturation Force patrolled Hempstead County highways this past weekend in an effort to cut down on weekend accidents. According to Capt. Milton Mossier, the results are as follows:

Five arrested for driving while intoxicated, 29 for speeding, 13 for hazardous driving other than speeding, 20 non-hazardous arrests, 69 light corrections, 51 warnings, seven no motor vehicle inspection stickers. No accidents were investigated. State police gave service to motorists 40 times.

The ages of the drivers arrested run like this:

Four arrested in the 15-19 year-old age group; 18 in the 20-24 year-old age group; 13 in the 25-34 year-old age group; 17 in the 35-44 year-old age group; 12 in the 45-54 year-old age group; two in the 55-64 year-old age group; three in the 65-74 year-old age group.

Scientists Find Lunar Materials Spur Growth in Various Plants

By BILL STOCKTON

AP Science Writer
SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Because no moon bugs have ever been found, the Apollo 15 astronauts are being spared the three-week quarantine that faced the past moon explorers.

But the 175 pounds of rocks David R. Scott, James B. Irwin and Alfred M. Worden brought back from the moon face a thorough analysis to make certain there is no health hazard. And they will be probed to learn more about the unknown factors in moon rocks that seem to kill earthly microorganisms and spur or retard some plant growth.

The factors, which still aren't understood, were discovered in moon rocks returned by Apollo 11 in 1969. Samples returned by Apollo 12 and 14 also have shown biological activity.

A variety of plant species that have shown a reaction to previous lunar material will be studied.

These include celery, cabbage, brussels sprouts, pepper, carrot, lettuce, radish, spinach, clover, fern, liverwort and algae. Tissue cultures of other plants and seedlings of lime, cotton and corn also will be studied. When the space agency decided to eliminate the elaborate astronaut quarantine with Apollo 15 because scientists decided it was unnecessary, a "preliminary biomedical evaluation" program was outlined for Apollo 15 samples.

"Botanical investigations have definitely shown that lunar materials are capable of enhancing plant growth responses," the document outlining the biomedical evaluation program states.

"In addition, the exposure of terrestrial microorganisms to lunar materials in the presence of normal growth media has resulted in the death of these microorganisms."

The unknown factor that can kill earthly microorganisms, such as bacteria and virus was discovered in Apollo 11 rocks from beneath the moon's surface, said Dr. Gerald Taylor, a Manned Spacecraft Center scientist.

Mistrial for Black Panther Huey Newton

OAKLAND, Calif., (AP) — Black Panther cofounder Huey P. Newton, whose retrial on charges stemming from the killing of an Oakland policeman has ended with an 11-1 hung jury, goes before a new judge Tuesday to learn if he must stand trial a third time.

After six days of deliberation, a jury of 10 women and two men told Superior Court Judge Harold Hove Sunday that it was deadlocked.

First jurors had sent out a note asking they be taken for dinner, but another note followed saying: "One of the jurors no longer wishes to deliberate."

Some were near tears as the judge dismissed them and directed Newton to appear before the criminal calendar court for setting of a new trial date. He remains free on $50,000 bail. There was no immediate indication from prosecutor Donald Whyte whether the state will gain seek to try the 29-year-old Newton on a charge of voluntary manslaughter in the shooting of officer John Frey on Oct. 28, 1967.

Newton was charged with first-degree murder in his first trial and was found guilty of the lesser charge of voluntary manslaughter. The jury's verdict in that trial later was overturned, however.

Irwin told the crowd, which included several Space Center workers, that he thought often while in space of "the genius that created such beautiful machinery, the people who put it all together and finally the people on the ground who helped us operate it."

Arriving with the astronauts were about 100 pounds of moon rocks, sealed in airtight containers.

Mr. Caldwell credited the success of the vaccination program to the cooperation of horse owners, veterinarians, and interested persons.

Must Wait to Move Horses

The vaccination program aimed at preventing the spreading of VEE, Venezuelan Equine Encephalomyelitis, has been so successful that the quarantine restricting movement within the state has been lifted by the State Livestock and Poultry Commission.

Calvin J. Caldwell, county Extension Agent, pointed out, though, that the quarantine has only been lifted for those horses which have been vaccinated with VEE vaccine for at least 14 days. And, he said, during transportation the operator of the vehicle carrying the horses must have in his possession a certificate of vaccination issued at the time the animal in transit was vaccinated.

Astronauts Reunited With Families

By HOWARD BENEDICT

AP Aerospace Writer
SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Apollo 15's astronauts, reunited with their families after a month's separation, today start the long series of debriefings that will give scientists, engineers and doctors the minute details of their historic moon journey.

In the Lunar Receiving Laboratory, geologists are preparing to open the first of the moon rock boxes the astronauts returned from Hadley Base.

David R. Scott, James B. Irwin and Alfred M. Worden spend the morning undergoing extensive medical examination. In the afternoon they shift to technical sessions to answer questions about the 12-day voyage that took Scott and Irwin to the surface of the moon for 67 hours of exploration among the highest lunar mountains and along an ancient canyon.

Following splashdown Saturday, doctors aboard the recovery carrier Okinawa pronounced all three adventurers in good condition.

An Air Force C141 transport flew the astronauts from Hawaii to nearby Ellington Air Force Base Sunday night, and the men rushed into the embrace of their families—a first for a moon-landing crew.

The three previous crews had to spend three weeks in quarantine, but experts concluded that moonmen bring back no harmful germs and eliminated the isolation for Apollo 15.

So Scott and Irwin rushed into the arms of their wives and daughters. Worden, who is divorced, clutched his two daughters. It was the first time the astronauts had been with their families since the Fourth of July weekend.

A crowd of about 2,500 who braved a drizzling rain cheered and waved banners and flags while a band in Scottish kilts played "Fly Me to the Moon."

Scott told the assemblage that he saw the full moon from the Okinawa Sunday before dawn.

"As I looked at it, I felt a little homesick," he said. "If you go some place as beautiful and as fascinating as that and you spend three very intense days, you really get attached to it."

Irwin told the crowd, which included several Space Center workers, that he thought often while in space of "the genius that created such beautiful machinery, the people who put it all together and finally the people on the ground who helped us operate it."

Club Sees Film About Highways

The Hope Rotary Club saw the new Arkansas State Highway film at the weekly meeting of the club Friday, August 6 in the Town and Country. District Engineer John Tallant was in charge of the program and presented Bill Mooney of the highway department headquarters in Little Rock.

After a few remarks about the progress made in the highway building program in the area during the last five years, Mr. Mooney showed motion pictures in color that were taken over the entire state. The portion filmed in Southwest Arkansas included views of Lester Kent and champion watermelons. Two beauties from Hope, the 1970 Miss Arkansas, Donna Connelly, and Miss Hospitality, Margie Royston, were also seen. Facts and figures used in the narration included the deplorably high cost of the fight against litter on the highways.

Dr. Glenn Hallock presented a Rotary Club flag from his club in Wasco, Calif., to President Sam Strong and, in turn, was presented a flag from the local club. In addition to the visiting Rotarian, other guests were Buddy Mhoon and Sammy Strong.

with newsmen, have made clear that they expect the United States also to back Pakistan, an ally with America in the Central Treaty Organization and the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization.

Pakistan and Peking have maintained close relations ever since China's 1962 border clashes with India, while the Soviet Union has been close to India and its main supplier of arms.

Relations between India and the United States are rapidly deteriorating also because of continued U.S. arms shipments to Pakistan. During a meeting with newsmen last week, a government spokesman said the "highest levels of the State Department and White House" were using their prestige "to shore up and back up the Pakistan regime."

The Indian and Soviet governments also have both been alarmed by the recent thaw between the Communist Chinese and American governments.

The new Soviet-Indian treaty apparently was worked out in highly secret negotiations concluded before Gromyko's arrival Sunday on what had appeared to be a hastily arranged visit occasioned by the threat of war between India and Pakistan.

truck driver were killed, violence continued today. Mobs of youths roamed the streets of Belfast, Londonderry and many suburban areas, throwing stones and gasoline and nail bombs. Snipers fired from rooftops and other rioters blocked streets with blazing cars and trucks.

Angry Catholics poured into the streets of Belfast and Londonderry at 6 a.m. to jeer at the troops and beat garbage can covers to warn neighbors of the search.

Troops and police were searching for terrorists, their equipment and documents telling of their plans. An army spokesman said the crackdown was designed to "disrupt the activities of the terrorists."

"A number of people have been taken in by us for questioning," said a police spokesman.

The soldier killed Sunday night, a private in the Green Howards Regiment, was the 29th person killed this year in the communal violence in Northern Ireland and the 11th British soldier. A total of 59 persons have been slain since Northern Ireland's ancient Catholic-Protestant feud erupted into new warfare during the annual parade of the Protestant Apprentice Boys in Londonderry on Aug. 12, 1969.

The weekend violence in Belfast began with the slaying of the driver of a delivery truck, Harry Thornton, when his vehicle backed out of an army post. Sentries apparently believed they were being attacked and fired a fusillade of shots which killed Thornton.

Snipers' bullets injured three soldiers slightly during rioting that followed Saturday night in protest against Thornton's death.

Mobs rampaged through Belfast again Sunday night, and "the city was in a hell of a state," an army spokesman said.

Shortly after dark a "brief but vicious" riot erupted in the Ardoyne Roman Catholic area, and it was during this confrontation between the army and stone-throwing demonstrators that a sniper killed the soldier. Snipers injured two other soldiers slightly.

2 Dead, 3 Wounded in Shootout

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — It began with one horse kicking another and ended with two men dead and three others wounded Sunday in a knife and shotgun shootout.

Police said Mr. and Mrs. John White witnessed the violence at a park and gave this account: Robert Lacy, 35, and another man described as a good friend began arguing after one of their horses kicked the other rider's horse.

White said the second man rode away on his horse, and he was going after his gun.

A few minutes later, two men in a car jumped out with their guns and began arguing with Lacy. Lacy told the pair he was unarmed then turned to talk with his brother, John, 28.

White said Lacy was turned away from the gunmen "when they shot him in the back with a shotgun."

White told police Robert Lacy lay wounded on the ground when one of the two gunmen pulled a knife and finished dispatching him.

John Lacy ran for help, White said, but he, too, was stabbed. Moments later, Willie McCunin, 25, was shot in the head and killed.

Willie Lacy, 30, a brother of the dead Lacy, was stabbed several times and hospitalized along with another John.

Oscar McCunin, 27, brother of the dead McCunin, was hospitalized with a bullet wound in the chest.

One of two brothers wanted in connection with the incident was being questioned at a hospital by police while his brother was being sought, police said.

Policemen Acquitted in Shooting

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Four policemen have been acquitted of violating the civil rights of two unarmed Mexican citizens killed in a "mistake" shooting.

A U.S. District Court jury returned the verdict Sunday in the third day of deliberation.

A spokesman for the 5,000-man Los Angeles police force said later "it is the verdict which we expected and anything else would have been a real shock."

The defense had described the slayings of the two men as a "tragic, unfortunate mistake."

The two were killed 13 months ago when police looking for a man described as an armed, dangerous murder suspect from San Leandro, near San Francisco, kicked down the door to the apartment where the two were staying.

In the ensuing confusion, the two, who spoke only Spanish, were shot. The man sought was not there, and when he surrendered later elsewhere, he was cleared.

Thinks Secy. of Commerce Should Quit

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Commerce Maurice Stans should resign because he sides with big business rather than the public, says consumer advocate Ralph Nader.

"I happen to think ... that Secretary Stans is not a public official by any sense of the term, that he really should resign immediately," Nader said Sunday on CBS' "Face the Nation."

Nader said Stans should not be on the public payroll because he "so clearly, unabashedly represent a special, narrow, business-interest viewpoint as his statements and speeches show so clearly."

Nader said "there has to be a way citizens can have an opportunity to compel an evaluation" of the job done by Presidential appointees.

Stans was out of town and unavailable for comment.

Nader said Stans and White House assistant Peter Flanigan have been responsible for what he described as "a really marked deterioration in the Nixon administration's environmental policy" in recent months. He cited delays in promulgation of air-quality guidelines for the states.

"They in effect have failed to comply with the law ... because these guidelines were supposed to be out exactly 10 days ago. That again is due to Secretary of Commerce Maurice Stans' Nader said."

"We have many officials in government who are supposed to enforce acts ... and they systematically refuse to enforce them," Nader said. "If citizens cannot reach these officials by petitioning to have them censured or demoted or relieved of their jobs, then there's no incentive, no feedback for these officials to fight the pressured interests that tell them ... to forget about laws when they deal with corporations."

Chief Not Notified of Shooting

MARIANNA, Ark. (AP) — Police Chief J. K. Caughey of Marianna said late Sunday night that he had not been notified of a reported shooting incident here Sunday evening.

Mrs. Mamie Nelson of Marianna said Sunday night that a group of whites in a car fired at the door of her house. Mrs. Nelson said that no one was injured in the shooting.

Caughey said that he had received no report of the alleged shooting. The Arkansas State Police, which has sent extra troopers to the area, said they had not received a report of the incident.

Mrs. Nelson said the lady involved in the shooting had unsuccessfully tried to "hail" a policeman.

A man answering the telephone at the Marianna police department refused to give any information on the shooting saying only the police chief could give information. He refused to give a newsman the name of the police chief, then refused to identify himself.

A curfew continued in effect from 8:30 p.m. Sunday to 5:30 a.m. Monday. The curfew was imposed last week after racial tension flared in Marianna.

Blacks have been boycotting some white merchants for alleged discrimination against blacks for several weeks.

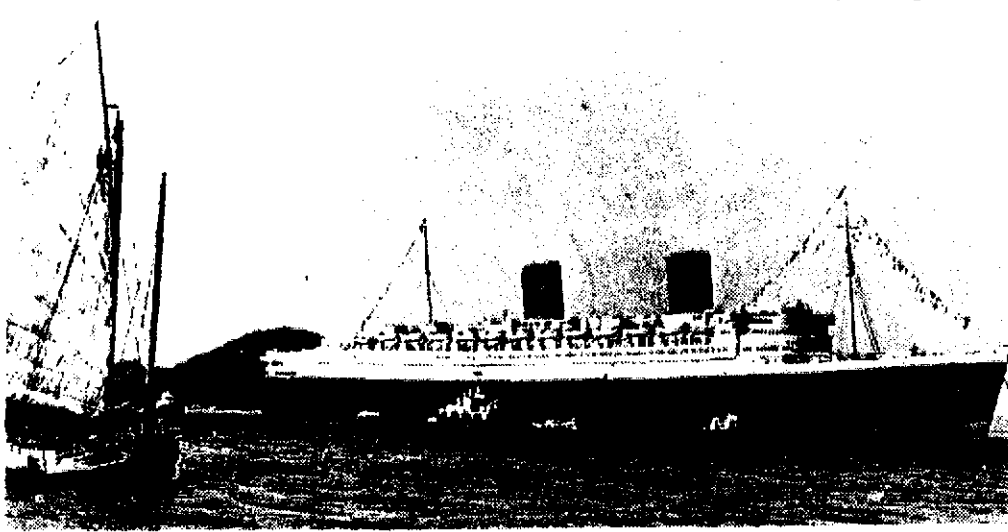

Several newsmen attempting to cover the situation in Marianna last week were threatened by white residents in the area.

Good Response to Chisholm

NEW YORK (AP) — Rep. Shirley Chisholm, D-N.Y., the first black woman member of Congress, says she has received favorable reactions from across the country to her announcement she might run for president.

Money would be an obstacle, but Mrs. Chisholm said Sunday she has received "hundreds of dollars" without soliciting it.

"Students, women, minority groups, and many, many disillusioned older white voters are looking for new blood—somebody who can look at the problems we are faced with differently," she said.

NEW ROLE for an old star, a floating university is to be the future of the "Queen Elizabeth" at anchor in Hong Kong harbor. Once queen of Britain's passenger fleet, the retired superliner was purchased by Hong Kong shipping interests for conversion into an educational center.

Police Shoot at Hostage

By PETER REHAK
Associated Press Writer

BONN, Germany (AP) — At least one wife isn't speaking to her husband and old friendships are being strained as West Germans argue whether Munich police should have fired on two bank robbers while they were holding hostages.

One of the hostages, 20-year-old Ingried Reppel, was killed Wednesday night along with one of the gunmen as they reached a getaway car.

Officials claimed that the gunman, George Rammelmayer, 31, fired at the girl before police bullets cut him down. But the police decision to open fire has set off one of the country's most heated public controversies in years.

Rammelmayer and Dimitri Todorov, 24, barricaded themselves in the bank with 13 hostages shortly after 3 p.m. Wednesday and demanded two million marks—about $540,000, a getaway car and safe conduct through the police lines.

Officials agreed to these terms, but Munich's Chief Prosecutor Erich Sechser, Police Chief Manfred Schreiber and Bavarian Interior Ministry officials decided that police sharpshooters would open fire as soon as the gunmen emerged on the street. Interior Minister Brunk Merk said to let the pair get away would have endangered the public.

However, the first police shot did not kill Rammelmayer, the first man to come out, and he fired back. Nearly 200 shots were exchanged before the shootout ended. Miss Reppel was wounded in the car and died during the night. Todorov was captured alive.

A Munich lawyer, Frank Niepel, filed a charge of "intentional homicide" against the police chief, who also came under fire in some newspaper editorials.

The Munich city government asked the Bavarian state criminal investigation office to make a report on the case.

The policemen's union expressed regret at Miss Reppel's death but declared that the police action was "fully justified."

"My wife is not speaking to me because she feels they should not have opened fire, but I think there was no other way out," said a detective in Bonn.

Would Give School Back to L.R.

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Two state legislators from Fayetteville say the best way to cure the financial ills of the University of Arkansas Medical Center would be to give the University of Arkansas at Little Rock back to Little Rock.

Rep. Charles Stewart said the Medical Center could continue to operate at full capacity if the UA would "give Little Rock University back to Little Rock" and "spend this money on the medical school."

"This has been one of the big problems—the University of Arkansas at Little Rock is taking a good deal of money which the university might have had for the medical school," said Sen. Morris Henry.

The Medical Center is seeking a supplemental appropriation of $2.6 million for the remainder of the biennium. Center officials have said portions of the center's operations will have to be closed unless financial help is provided.

Physical plant employees at the center have warned that they will not sign a new contract after the present contract expires Oct. 31 unless salary increases are provided.

Fire Threat to Last of the Condors

FILLMORE, Calif. (AP) — A fast-moving brush fire burned over the crest of a rugged cliff and started toward a mountain sanctuary where the last California condors are fighting against extinction.

But the U.S. Forest Service brought in reserves, and a force of 500 firefighters halted the blaze Sunday.

The unexplained 200-acre fire in the Los Padres National Forest began Saturday during a heat spell that has raised the fire danger in mountains and canyon areas in Southern California.

Besides the 500 men, heavy equipment and a dozen tankers helped control the blaze. No structures were burned and no injuries were reported.

An estimated 60 condors are in the 54,000-acre Sespe Condor Sanctuary, 45 miles north of Los Angeles. The bird, which has a 10-foot wingspan, once ranged widely over the West, but only one birth has been recorded in each of the last three years in the sanctuary.

Nixon Back From New England Trip

By FRANCES LEWINE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon went back to work today refreshed from a New England weekend of sunning, boating, politicking and lobster.

He had no announced appointments on his White House schedule for the day. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker was on his way to Washington from Saigon for conferences with Nixon later this week on Vietnam. The President is expected also to meet this week with Ambassador William J. Porter, his new chief negotiator at the Paris Peace talks.

And the President dispatched Secretary of State William P. Rogers and Assistant Secretary Joseph Sisco to confer in New York today with United Nations officials on humanitarian and peacekeeping problems in Pakistan.

The chief executive had escaped a bit from pressures of his office over the weekend on a secluded 22-acre private island in Penobscot Bay, Maine. After two days there and two afternoon cruises on the bay, the President remarked, "I see why people come here."

And he made much over Maine lobsters which he said he ate at every meal.

Nixon was not only warmed by the sun but by a turnout of thousands at Manchester and Nashua, N.H., and Bangor, Maine. He made those stops Friday on his way to Minot Island, owned by his friend Jack J. Dreyfus Jr., a New York investment broker and chairman of the board of the Dreyfus Fund.

Nixon preceded three Democratic presidential hopefuls—Sens. George McGovern of South Dakota, Birch Bayh of Indiana and Henry M. Jackson of Washington—into New Hampshire, site of the first 1972 presidential primary.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Dave Garroway, after a year of sampling Southern California life and work, has decided he likes it and plans to stay-in television.

Dave, 10 years after he left NBC's New York-based "Today Show," is having his first important network exposure host of CBS's "Newcomers" in eight summer replacement shows. The TV shows are all taped, and how Dave has quit a local music and talk radio show he had conducted for the past year.

"The television show was too good to be true," he reported. "It was so much fun for me it was almost indecent—like doing 'Garroway at Large' again. I even had Bill Hobin, who was with me then, back as producer."

The radio show—three hours a day, six days a week—was beginning to be a grind because "you need an awful lot of things to talk about to keep that up," he said.

"There are so many TV things in the wind, I am feeling a little confused," he continued. "The network is still talking about continuing the summer show as a midseason replacement. I don't know our chances but they are keeping the costumes and scenery intact, which should mean something. There's a TV special that is pretty well set and a couple of others in the talking stage. And commercials."

Garroway, original host of "Today," quit after the sudden death of his wife in 1961. Some sad years followed with a couple of false starts in TV shows and some ill-starred business ventures. A well-received TV interview show on a Boston station expanded into a small syndication, but collapsed when his employers decided to abandon live programming for old movies.

With his 13-year-old son David, he is off on a trip down the Colorado River rapids. Slimmed down to under 200 pounds, he has taken up golf after a 16-year hiatus and is looking for a house in Los Angeles' outlying regions to which he can ship his 6,000-pound telescope. An astronomy buff for years, Garroway now has the telescope in his Scituate, Mass., home, which he expects to sell.

His spirits and outlook are brighter than in years but he is the same gentle, thoughtful man whose whimsy and understatement made him one of TV's earliest superstars.

"I'm even taking acting lessons," he said. "I want to be ready for anything. I have no regrets about leaving 'Today,' but I sometimes do have a nostalgic twinge when I watch it. As the original host, I'm going to be with Hugh Downs on his final program in October."

Coming, Going

Bill Bruner, son of Mr. and Mrs. "Dub" Bruner, flew to Fayetteville Tuesday to see a cousin, Cathy Feild, at the U of A. Both came back to Hope this weekend.

Mrs. T.A. McLelland has gone to Little Rock to be with Roger McLelland at the VA Hospital.

Kidvid Grows Up

By JOYCE GABRIEL

NEW YORK — (NEA) — In television the eras of children's programming could legitimately be labeled B.S. and A.S.: Before Sesame Street and After. The Children's Television Workshop program aimed at preschoolers made both audiences and broadcasters aware that children's programming could be more than animated cartoons.

"Kidvid," an industry term for children's programming, was out. The heat was on: from parents' groups (notably the Boston-based Action for Children's Television), from governmental agencies (the FCC mainly) and from sponsors to oust "Kidvid" and get better children's programming on the air.

The networks responded with announcements, plans and appointments of special vice presidents in charge of children's programming.

The cynics on the TV scene snickered: "This will come to nothing—it is just a sop." The cynics are disappointed. Network promises have taken shape in action, as this season's lineup of children's programs shows.

There is more progress to be made in children's programming — and the networks know it. Nevertheless, one can view this year's schedule as the harvest of children's programming ideas sown two years ago, planted after the success of Sesame Street.

One thing is clear in the networks' children's offerings: They are not going after Sesame Street's market. They're aiming at an older group—between the ages of six and 14.

Saturday mornings are prime Kidvid time and the networks cash in on it by programming exclusively for children. In fact, the networks are so eager to capture the kiddie viewers, they're all premiering their new fall children's programming lineup on the same day: Sept. 11.

Refreshingly, there are programs in this season's Saturday morning lineup that, although they are designed for children, adults can enjoy watching.

NBC has two new entries: "Take a Giant Step," created and produced by George Heineman, the man who brought another generation of youngsters the award-winning Ding Dong School 20 years ago; and The Great Barrier Reef, an adventure series set in Australia.

Take a Giant Step is a one-hour show hosted and run by children in the 13-15 age group. It is geared for children from the ages of 7 to 14. The show concentrates on showing young people how to make value judgments by having a theme for each program—"Happy Sad" is the theme for one—and having three adolescent hosts discussing their views on the theme.

They illustrate different aspects of it through film clips, music, animation and the Vismo screen. The kids themselves, with the guidance of two assistant producers and two researchers from Scholastic Magazine, compile all the information and put the show together.

Also on NBC, Mr. Wizard returns after a six-year absence. Don Herbert, as ever, explains complex phenomena in simple terms, but the show adds a new dimension, with film clips illustrating some of his experiments.

CBS has a pint-sized version of You Are There, with Walter Cronkite the anchor-man as he was on the old TV series of the same name. Historical events, such as The Alamo and the bombing of Pearl Harbor, are recreated.

The Children's Film Festival, which was a monthly offering last season, becomes a weekly series on CBS, with children's films from all over the world.

In the News is a special feature: eight weekly two-and-one-half minute broadcasts that give youngsters an understanding of both current hard news and feature stories.

ABC's new entry in the Saturday morning lineup is Curiosity Shop, an experimental program created and produced by long-time film animator Chuck Jones. The rest of the ABC morning lineup is much the same, with Lancelot Link, Secret Chimp Hour and animated goodies to entertain the kiddies.

In the weekday schedule, both Sesame Street (on PBS) and Captain Kangaroo (on CBS) will be back. And The Children's Television Workshop is premiering a new children's program, this one for youngsters in the second-to-fourth grade age group. Titled The Electric Company, the show is designed to teach basic reading skills. Among the company of seven actors who will be regulars on the show are comedian Bill Cosby and Rita Moreno. The show will be seen on PBS starting Oct. 25th.

Trouble with many females is they've got this ingrained idea that men don't like women with brains. Try them and see!—H. Dear Helen:

A long time ago I read a zany saying in your column: "I feed her books and feed her books but she only eats the covers," meaning the gal wasn't exactly a giant intellect.

She'd have a rough time at our library. I've been taking out paperback books (in great numbers) that appeared to be damaged, because the front and back covers were "patched" with opaque mending tape. Only the names showed.

One day I got curious, pulled the tape—and found out it was used as a "morality patch." The librarians evidently don't mind us READING hot stuff, but SEEING it on the cover is a nude of a different color.

How ABOUT that?—EDWIN Dear Ed:

...It's kinda like putting panties on nude statues. Perhaps the librarians think "young eyes" need protection—and won't read on if the picture doesn't grab them.—H. Dear Helen:

East Wins High School All-Stars

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — If the results were written in the "stars," all the writing was confined to the East here Saturday.

And by the time the lights went out on a day of Arkansas high school athletics here Saturday, the all-stars from the East had sparked to victories in basketball and football over all-star teams from the West.

Led by Bennie Fuller, a sharpshooter from Arkansas School for the Deaf, the East All-Star basketball team sped to a 95-85 victory over the West All-Stars to snap a four-year winning string of the West.

The East football team, sparked by two touchdown passes from quarterback Mark Miller of Augusta, staved off a determined West team to gain a 20-18 victory and re-establish the East's dominance in this summer classic. East All-Star football teams had won eight years in a row until the West won in 1970.

Fuller, who has been deaf since birth, could not hear the cheers Saturday afternoon, but he knew they were there as the 6,384 fans in Barton Coliseum gave Fuller "the biggest thrill of my life" as he left the game in the fourth quarter after pumping in 26 points to lead his team to victory. He also was chosen the game's most outstanding player and the announcement of his selection touched off a team demonstration that temporarily halted the game.

The 6-foot-1 Fuller, the first deaf player to compete in the Arkansas high school all-star game, was lifted onto the shoulders of his teammates and fans swarmed down to court-side trying to get close enough to shake hands.

The East moved into an 8-6 lead at the end of the first period, then Fuller, McKinley Person of Tuckerman and David Becton of Hall cranked up the East offense. The East led 29-26 at the end of two quarters, 38-35 at the end of three periods, 68-55 at the end of four.

Maurice Scarbrough of Little Rock Horace Mann and Ricky Medlock of Cave City each scored 12 points for the East. Larry Banks of Stephens was the leading scorer for the West with 15 points. James Washington of Hot Springs had 13 and Anthony Moorman of North Little Rock had 11.

The West football team appeared to have the East on the ropes after the first half when the West led 6-0. But the East's Miller, who had warmed the bench most of the first half, came in at quarterback to rally the East to three touchdowns in the second half.

Miller connected on eight of 11 passes for 90 yards, including TD tosses of 14 and 40 yards to Steve Burks of Cabot. In between was a five-yard sprint around right end for a touchdown by Trumann's Julius Holliman that gave the East a 14-6 lead in the third quarter.

The West opened the scoring on a three-yard pass from quarterback Jimmy Doolittle to his Little Rock Catholic teammate Matt Morrison. The PAT kicked failed.

After the East had taken a 14-6 advantage, Doolittle, a 5-foot-9 scrapper, engineered the West 58 yards in eight plays, but the score came on an unusual play. Gary Anderson of Arkadelphia burst over right tackle from the 12-yard line but fumbled. The ball squirted into the end zone and Jim Feinster of El Dorado fell on it for a West score.

The West tried to tie the score with a two-point conversion attempt, but Doolittle's pass fell incomplete.

The East pushed the lead to 20-12 on Miller's 40-yard strike to Burks, but the West kept its hopes alive when linebacker James Castrom of Camden knocked the PAT attempt.

Doolittle, harassed by the East defensive secondary, which intercepted him three times, nearly played the game out for the East with a 20-yard passing pass to Adrian Ray of

Satchel Paige Now in Hall of Fame

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer
COOPERSTOWN, N.Y. (AP) — Leroy "Satchel" Paige was inducted today into Baseball's Hall of Fame—through the front door.

The end of a long campaign for Paige's inclusion among the immortals of the sport—black or white—came when the hesitation-pitch marvel of the Negro Baseball Leagues was formally inducted with seven others on the porch of the National Baseball Library.

Also inducted were: —Dave Bancroft, a star shortstop with the then Philadelphia Phillies and New York Giants some 50 years ago.

—Jake Beckley, a pre-1900 starter who played a record 2,368 games as a first baseman for Pittsburgh, Cincinnati and St. Louis.

—Charles "Chick" Hefey, St. Louis and Cincinnati outfielder and a power-hitting outfielder from the mid-1920s to mid-1930s.

—Harry Hooper, a slick-fielding outfielder who starred with the Boston Red Sox from 1909 to 1920.

—Joe Kelley, a pre-1900 outfielder with the Baltimore Orioles who hit as high as .301.

—Richard "Rube" Margulder, who posted 201 victories during his career, including 19 in succession, while pitching for the Giants in 1912.

—George Weiss, longtime executive with the New York Yankees, whose career spanned 19 pennant-winners.

But the day belonged to Old Satchel, whose legendary exploits performed in barnstorming tours from village to hamlet, have made him a part of America's baseball folklore.

Barred from the majors until he was in his 40s by the color line that wasn't broken until 1947, Paige was as big a star in the Negro leagues as Babe Ruth was in the major leagues. But he did not play the 10 years in the majors required for election to the Hall of Fame by the usual means.

He was, however, selected by a special committee on the Negro Leagues for entry into the Hall of Fame, but only in a separate section designed to honor black stars of the pre-1947 era. That brought an outcry from his ardent supporters. But, finally, just last month, the problem was resolved when it was ruled stars of the Negro Leagues would be inducted directly into the Hall of Fame—the same Hall of Fame for all.

"I guess," said Paige when he was notified, "they finally found out I was worthy."

Wins N. Am. Solo Regatta

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Bob Moshbacher of Houston won the Championship in the North American Solo sailing regatta by winning the last race on Santa Monica Bay. The victory enabled the 43-year-old Texas to finish with a low 34 points over-all.

Nashville in the closing minutes.

Attempting a two-point conversion play, Doolittle lofted a pass that was just inches over the head of North Little Rock's Billy Burns and just short of a diving Morrison, who caught the ball on a bounce in the end zone.

Burns protested to the referee that Morrison had made a good catch, but his argument failed and the East was able to run out the clock.

The West had 18 first downs to 14 for the East, 192 yards rushing to 127 for the East, and

Detroit 8-2 Over Boston

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer
Vida's been getting all the attention this year, but look who's also pitching a Blue streak—Mickey Lolich.

The Detroit left-hander is the hardest worker in the American League with 270 innings hurled and has compiled 226 strikeouts, a 2.93 earned run average and an 18-8 won-loss record, including Sunday's 8-2 victory over the Boston Red Sox.

But Lolich has had little chance to scene-steal from Oakland's super southpaw, who nailed down No. 20 Saturday with a 1-0 conquest of the Chicago White Sox.

Never mind. Lolich just keeps rolling along.

Lolich's credentials might even shine more if it weren't for games that exploded in the ninth inning. Five times this year, he's lost leads in the last frame and also lost the victories.

Lolich's victory over Boston kept the Red Sox from gaining ground on pace setting Baltimore in the AL East. The Orioles were beaten 2-1 by the New York Yankees Sunday.

In the other American League games, the Kansas City Royals clouted the Milwaukee Brewers 7-2; the Cleveland Indians trimmed the Washington Senators 6-2; the Minnesota Twins nipped the California Angels 2-1; Chicago spilled Oakland 9-7 in the first game of a doubleheader and beat the A's in the nightcap 3-1.

In the National League, it was Atlanta 5, New York 0; Philadelphia 3, Pittsburgh 2 in the first game of a doubleheader and Pittsburgh 4, Philadelphia 0 in the nightcap; Cincinnati 6, Montreal 3; San Diego 3, Houston 2; Los Angeles 4, St. Louis 2 and San Francisco and Chicago split a twin bill—the Giants winning the first game 4-2 in 11 innings and the Cubs the second, 8-0.

Lolich, who was nicked for a first-inning run on Carl Yastrzemski's sacrifice fly, ran into familiar ninth-inning trouble when he gave up three hits, including Phil Gagliano's run scoring double.

But Lolich had more than enough working margin to wriggle out this time. He struck out the last batter and moved closer to the prized 20-victory plateau, something consistently denied him in eight previous major league seasons.

"I've got a good shot at 20," Lolich predicts.

Felipe Alou knocked in the winning run with a pinch-hit single in the ninth inning as New York rocked Baltimore for the third time in their four-game series.

Alou's line shot to center chase home Roy White, who had opened with a single and moved to second on a sacrifice bunt, and made a winner of young Steve Kline. The game winning hit snapped a 1-1 tie that existed from the first inning.

Dick Drago spaced nine hits and contributed a key, two-run double to pace Kansas City over Milwaukee. Drago broke the game open with his hit after Paul Schaal's double and a walk to Ed Kirkpatrick in the fourth inning.

Drago's hit padded the Royal's lead to 4-1 and provided the eventual winning runs as the Brewers came back in their ninth on Dave May's homer.

Rookie Chris Chambliss knocked in two runs with a single and double and scored once, pacing Cleveland over Washington and Denny McLain, who lost for the 16th time in 22 decisions.

McLain had a two-hit shutout through five innings before the Indians reached the former Cy Young winner for two runs in the sixth on run scoring singles by Chambliss and John Lowenstein. Chambliss then capped a two-run seventh with his double that bounced into the left field seats at RFK Stadium.

Leo Cardenas drilled a tie breaking homer with two out in the ninth to lift Minnesota over California.

Walt Williams' two-run double and Mike Andrews' two-run single keyed a six-run Chicago fifth inning in the opener and Wilbur Wood checked Oakland on five hits in the second game for his 14th victory.

An Outsider Wins at Monmouth

By TOM SALADINO

Insiders expected a duel between Jim French and Pass Catcher last Saturday in the $100,000 Monmouth Invitational but it was outsider West Coast Scout who provided the fancy footwork.

West Coast Scout, overlooked by the crowd of 37,788 at Monmouth Park, went off at 20-1 and won by 1¼ lengths over the 1½ miles, speeding the distance in a track record 1:48. The 2-1 favorite Jim French finished ninth and Pass Catcher, the Belmont Stakes winner, was eighth in the field of 12 three-year olds.

Larry Adams guided the Oxford Stable longshot to a $42,400 payoff and some artful maneuvering in the stretch.

Another outsider, Protanto, captured the $60,500 Whitney Stakes at Saratoga, winning by a hair over Peace Corps. A foul claim by Kenny Knapp, aboard the runnerup, was disallowed. The winner paid $14.80 and earned $36,300 for owners Cragwood Stable.

Protanto, under Jorge Velasquez and 117 pounds, ran the 1¼ miles in 1:49 2-5. Shuvee was third, and favored Never Bow, was fourth in the field of 14 three-year-olds and up.

Sinister Atmosphere at PanAm

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent
CALI, Colombia (AP) — Who was the seniorita in building 3 at the PanAmerican Village who yelled "Don't do it!" "Don't do it!"

The PanAmerican Games moved into the second week today not as a sports carnival dedicated to international brotherhood but more like something out of a cloak-and-dagger television serial.

The Cubans reportedly have secret agents posted at every exit to prevent more defections (the count is said to be up to seven but the Cubans admit to only three).

The Cubans say the United States has CIA agents under every bed. Manuel Gonzalez Guerra, chief of the Cuban delegation, insists the United States has imported CIA secret police moving around Cali like "sharks after a sardine."

The latest rumor is that a Cuban woman athlete lies dying in a hospital from poison. Police can't confirm it.

So it goes.

The sinister Hollywood atmosphere deepened over the week-end with the mysterious death of a man named Domingo Gomez, veteran Cuban trainer who plummeted to his death from the roof of the Cuban headquarters, Building No. 2, Saturday morning.

Was it a suicide? Was it an accident? Was he pushed?

Conflicting inside stories are a dime a dozen. The official PanAm press office first called it a suicide, then retracted the statement when, after seven hours, the police said it was an accident.

Only one person knows.

That was the women in Building 3, housing the Canadians and Brazilians, who at least half a dozen persons say they heard screams:

"Don't do it!" "Don't do it!" At the moment the body hit the ground, two Puerto Rican volleyballers, walking only yards away, say they looked up and saw two men on the roof.

What were they doing there? And there are those Brazilians, in Building 3 across the court, who vow they heard the man cry "Down with Fidel!" as he fell to his death.

But Brazilians speak Portuguese. How could they understand Spanish so well from the lips of a falling man?

Who was Gomez, anyway? The press release only said he was the father of eight and had been with Cuban team five years.

One inside report is that it was he who helped Cuban athletes defect. One, by Cuban admission, is at the Panamanian embassy in Bogota and two others—a male and female fencer—had vanished in thin air.

It's said that Gomez was the man who administered to the wounds of a Cuban athlete, caught fleeing the main exit and given a tremendous beating by his capturers.

For this deed, one informant insists, he was taken up on the roof and tossed overboard.

Another theory is that he was one of Fidel Castro's secret agents who had informed on defectors potential defectors and was done in by people he betrayed.

New York Downed 5-0 by Atlanta

By BERT ROSENTHAL

Rip Sewell, formerly of the Pittsburgh Pirates, polarized the "eephus" pitch. Steve Hamilton of the San Francisco Giants became famous for the "folly floater." And now there's Phil Niekro of the Atlanta Braves and the "goo-goo" delivery.

Niekro, whose elusive knuckleball has been baffling National League batters for the past few years, added the tantalizing "goo-goo" pitch to his repertoire this season.

Sunday, he used both to their full effectiveness, hurling the Braves to a 5-0 victory over the New York Mets, the team that had bombed Atlanta pitching for 20 runs and 21 hits Saturday night.

Elsewhere in the National League, San Francisco and Chicago split a doubleheader, the Giants winning the opener 4-2 in 11 innings and the Cubs taking the nightcap 8-0; Philadelphia and Pittsburgh also divided a twinbill, the Phils capturing the first game 3-2 and losing the second 4-0; Cincinnati downed

Patriots Lose to Vikings

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
About the only thing that marred Heisman Trophy winner Jim Plunkett's pro football debut with the New England Patriots was that his team lost.

"I wish we could have won," the rookie quarterback said after the Patriots were defeated 17-10 by the Minnesota Vikings in one of two exhibition games Sunday. Plunkett entered the game with only 11 minutes left to play, completed two of three passes but couldn't spark the New England offense that was throttled by the marauding Viking front four.

The Patriots managed to break into Minnesota territory only once in the first half and scored their lone touchdown on Clarence Scott's 23-yard interception return of a Bob Lee pass. Short carries by Jim Lindsey and Dave Osborn and a field goal by Fred Cox accounted for Minnesota's scoring.

Quarterback John Brodie and receiver Gene Washington combined for two long scoring plays as the San Francisco 49ers inaugurated play in their new Candlestick Park home with a 38-24 thrashing of the Cleveland Browns. Mike Phipps, the Browns' starting signal caller, also rifled two touchdown passes.

In Saturday's contests, the Chicago Bears forced Green Bay quarterback Frank Patrick into his own end zone for a safety and then held on to edge the Packers 2-0. Super Bowl champion Baltimore failed to avenge a loss to Kansas City early last season and wound up on the short end of a 10-7 score. Colts Coach Don McCafferty blamed his team's defeat on "a case of guys being opened and not getting hit."

Quarterback Ken Anderson tossed two fourth-quarter touchdowns passes to power Cincinnati to a 27-10 triumph over Miami and the Detroit Lions wiped out an early New York Jets lead and went on for a 28-24 victory in a game that sidelined Jets quarterback Joe Namath for most of the season with a knee injury.

Exhibition games continue tonight with Houston hosting the New York Giants and Philadelphia at Oakland.

Swimming Dominated by Canada

By JERRY LISKA
Associated Press Sports Writer
CALI, Colombia (AP) — The United States, already mightily humiliated in men's basketball, was being scuttled today in another of Uncle Sam's worthwhile invincible sports, women's swimming, in the waning six Pan American Games.

Although the USA had a whopping total of 78 gold medals entering the final week, its feminine aquatic contingent has yielded gold medals in six of eight events, all to Canada and mainly to blonde Leslie Cliff, remarkable 16-year-old mermmaid from Vancouver.

By way of comparison, the U.S. lost only two of 15 women's events in the last PanAm at Winnipeg in 1967 and was an all time loser of only nine events since the quadrennial hemispheric show began in 1951.

While it was a technical coup by Brazil which knocked out the United States' cage team after the USA swept all five previous PanAm crowns, there was nothing oblique about Miss Cliff's personal sabotage of the U.S. gal swimmers.

The versatile Miss Cliff, already has grabbed three gold medals—Sunday night adding the 400-meter individual medley title to the top medallions she previously won in the 200 individual medley and by anchoring Canada's winning 400 medley relay team.

And the powerful Canadian high schooler, who also won a silver medal in last night's 100-meter butterfly, has a crack at another gold swimming on Canada's 400-meter free style relay team Tuesday.

The USA's women swimmers last night scored only their second gold medal to date on a 100-meter butterfly triumph by 14-year-old Deana Deardruff of Cincinnati but Uncle Sam's masculine forces uncorked PanAm record-breaking triumphs in the 400-meter free style, the 200-backstroke and 200-breaststroke.

The men ran their three-day victory string to nine before Ecuador's Jorge Delgado caused Latin delirium by winning the 200-meter butterfly for the first PanAm gold medal ever scored by his country.

With Indiana University NCAA title powerhouse aces skipping the Cali games to concentrate on the National AAU meet, there still was a reversal of the men's form chart Sunday night.

World record holder Brian Job of Stanford finished third in the 200-meter breaststroke, won by the University of Washington's Rick Colella in PanAm record time of 2:27.1.

Another surprise was comparatively unheralded Charles Campbell of Princeton with a PanAm record 200-meter backstroke triumph in 2:07.1, only one off the world record of 2:06.1 held by East Germany's Roland Matthes.

The other USA's masculine pool victory was a record 4:09.0 by Southern California's Jim McConica in the 400-meter freestyle.

USA weightlifters showered themselves with gold medals, 19 in all, as that competition ended Sunday with Ken Patera, a 220-pound Minneapolis rigger, sweeping four golds in a new class, the super heavyweight division.

In boxing, the USA Monday night can better its bag of three gold medals at Winnipeg with four finalists, all in four of the five heavier weight classes.

They included heavyweight Duane Bobick, Navy quartermaster from Bowling, Minn., lightweight Ray Russell. Marine staff sergeant from Cincinnati, middleweight Jerry Otis, an Air Force sergeant from Bremerton, Wash., and welterweight Larry Carlises, Tarawa Terrace, N.C., another Marine sergeant.

Cuba's seasoned baseball team clinched a gold medal Sunday by defeating Mexico 6-2 for a seventh straight victory without defeat as the USA advanced to at least a silver medal tie by shading Colombia, 7-6 for a 5-2 record.

The USA's women's basketball team, trying to soothe the sting of the men's unprecedented cage ouster, had its victory skein snapped at three Sunday by defending champion Brazil, 64-60. That put Brazil into a first-place tie with the USA at 3-1 in the round-robin tourney.

American Conference: Western Division KANSAS CITY CHIEFS

PROSPECTUS—It's been fashionable so long to call Chiefs most awesome collection in game—they still overpower a hotel lobby—but in action they've become modishly normal. Don't scare anybody any longer. Maybe it's because Hank Stram's stuck too long to the old guys like Lenny Dawson. Retirement has begun to make some inroads, too, with loss of defensive end Jerry Mays, tight end Fred Arbanas, couple of all-timers. This is crucial year to see which direction Chiefs are going.

Offense

PASSING—Loyalties what they are, it'll be tough for Stram to discard Dawson as hub of attack. Of course, Lenny's 36 and has frail pins. Anyway, they'll have to start going soon to Mike Livingston, who's physically more in old Chief mold (6-4). Rating—B-.

RUNNING—Make way, all-star selectors, for Ed Podolak, brash and bruising, the outstanding part of '70 KC campaign. He has size, speed, toughness and good hands. Wendell Hayes, Robert Holmes still dueling for fullback role. Warren McVea, streaky dart, relegated to pinch duty. Rating—B+.

RECEIVING—Even with Arbanas gone, Chiefs aren't smarting. Billy Cannon departed, too, but huge and improving Morris Stroud is tremendous prospect, and real news here is drafting of Elmo Wright as wide receiver. Otis Taylor finally gets a worthy mate so teams can't double and triple team him. Dennis Homan, from Cowboys, could also help. Rating—B+.

LINE—Old order's changing gradually. E. J. Holub, an original, might not even make team, since Jack Rudnay's already settled at center. But rest of unit still practices together—range from fourth-year man Mo Moorman to 11-year tackle Jim Tyrer. No reason for them to turn suddenly weak. Rating—B+.

Prediction

Not the physical but the psychical that ordains Chiefs' fate. Second in West.

Hope Put Out of State in Overtime

After six innings of play Friday night, the score in the Hope-Little Rock Little League tournament game remained 0-0. An overtime game was played in Pine Bluff Saturday morning. At the bottom of the seventh inning Hope's Richard Wilson walked. Keith Cummings sacrificed and Wilson scored the only run of the game. David Sisson pitched the full game, facing 27 batters and striking out nine. The game was lost to Little Rock with a score of 2-1. Little Rock goes on to face more competition in Norfolk, Va.

Twenty minutes after the big game, Hope played a consolation game with Rogers. Edwin Connolly pitched the first three innings and Charles Harris finished the game. Rogers took the game 9-0.

Hope Little League was awarded a fourth place trophy which will be displayed at Anderson-Frazier. After the game, the head umpire came into the Hope dugout and complimented the boys on their sportsmanship.

Record Time in Rowing

NEW YORK (AP) — Jim Dietz of the New York A.C. won the National Sculling Championship at Orchard Beach Lagoon Sunday with a record time of 7:14 for the 2,000-meter course. He will represent the United States in the European Rowing Championships Aug. 18-22 at Copenhagen, Denmark.

Water at Prison to Be Tested

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Pulaski County Officials will test the water at the county's penal farm this week following an order by Federal Judge J. Smith Henley.

Henley took the action after two inmates at the penal farm said that conditions at the institution were unconstitutional. County Judge Frank Mackey says he is certain the water from the deep water well will be found safe.

Namath Operation Sunday

By EARL GERHEIM
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Joe Namath the New York Jets' star quarterback, had the cartilage removed from his left knee Sunday morning and with it went his chance "to show everybody I'm the No. 1 quarterback in football" ... at least for awhile.

"This isn't a career ending injury," said Dr. James Nicholas, the Jets' team physician and the man who has operated three other times on the delicate Namath knees.

He'll probably be back in uniform to play by the middle of November, but then there is the question of his timing. He'll let us know if he can set up and drop back," said Nicholas after he performed the 51-minute operation at Lenox Hill Hospital. Namath, who missed 10 games last season with a broken wrist, sustained severe ligament damage Saturday night when he attempted to make a tackle during the Jets' exhibition opener against the Detroit Lions in Tampa, Fla.

He made a handoff to Lee White, who bobbled the ball. Lion linebacker Mike Lucci picked it up and scampered 29 yards for a touchdown that started Detroit on the road to a 28-24 victory after Namath had guided New York to a 14-0 lead. Namath tried to bring Lucci down, but missed and Detroit linebacker Paul Naumoff fell on top of him.

"No way I could let him go," Namath said later in the Jet dressing room, referring to his futile effort to stop Lucci. "I guess crazy things have happened. I guess it shows I'm not a defensive back."

The injury temporarily handcuffed the flamboyant quarterback's desire to demonstrate a new outlook he says he has developed about himself and the game. He reported to the Jets' training camp on time for the first time in three years and was eager to play football. He spent the summer at the University of Alabama, his alma mater, strengthening the wrist he broke against Baltimore last Oct. 18.

justing the stance and or changing the grip. I don't do either of those things, and neither do most of the other touring pros.

We hook and slice with our hands. Not nearly enough is said about the role of the hands in a golf swing, particularly in hitting a curving shot. I stand square to the line on which I want to start the ball and use my normal grip.

If I want to slice, I open the clubface slightly coming into the impact zone. If I want to hook, I roll the clubface somewhat shut.

I can't tell you exactly how much. It's a question of feeling it, and you have to work it out for yourself in practice. It will pay you to.

Key Figures of Party to Meet

LEXA, Ark. (AP) — Walter Carruth of Lexa says the key figures of the American Party in Arkansas will meet here Saturday to organize a petition drive to put the party on the ballot in 1972.

Carruth was the party's unsuccessful gubernatorial candidate in the 1970 elections. He said in a telephone interview Sunday that the notices for the meeting were put in the mail this weekend.

The party needs 46,000 signatures to run a slate of candidates in next year's election.

Carruth said Sunday he has no political plans.

Travelers Take Doubleheader

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Travelers took a doubleheader from the Jacksonville Suns, 5-4, and 8-7 in Dixie Association play at Ray Winder Field here Sunday.

The second game went into an extra inning.

The endurance of both teams had been tried by Saturday's action.

Jacksonville won the first game 4-2 in 16 innings Saturday and Arkansas won the second 3-2 in 11 innings. The second game finished at 1 a.m. Sunday.

Skip Jutze caught 36 consecutive innings in about 20 hours during the four games.

"He's got to be in agony," Jack Krol, Arkansas manager, said. "Every muscle must be crying."

During the first game Sunday, Arkansas took the lead and never gave the Suns much of a chance.

It was different in the second game.

By the second inning, Jacksonville had a 5-0 lead.

The Arkansas team put itself back in the game with a three-run homerun by Danny Napoleon in the third and another home run by George Greer in the fourth.

Jacksonville then scored two more runs making it 7-4. From that point the Jacksonville team did not score again. The Travelers then caught up with the Suns and pushed the game into extra innings to win.

In other Dixie Association games Sunday Asheville edged Shreveport 4-3; Amarillo shut out Albuquerque with identical scores of 3-0 and 3-0; San Antonio took a doubleheader from Dallas-Fort Worth 3-1 and 2-1; Montgomery beat Birmingham 1-0; and Charlotte defeated Memphis 5-3.

Vollmer Wins Canadian Meet

VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP) — Wayne Vollmer, a 26-year-old Vancouver pro, sank a 100-yard wedge shot for an eagle two on the last hole Sunday and won the $15,000 British Columbia Open Golf Tournament. The eagle gave him a par 71 and a 206 total for the 54-hole tourney. Tom Nettles, of San Diego, Calif., finished in a four-way tie for second at 207.

Sota Wins Dutch Open

ZANDVOORT, Netherlands (AP) — Ramon Sota of Spain shot a final round 60 Sunday and won the Dutch Open Golf Championship with a 72-hole total of 277, six strokes ahead of Graham Marsh of Australia at 283. David Miller of Britain, who set a course record of 66, finished third at 285.

PRAGE (AP) — A total of 7,000 accidents occurred on Czechoslovak roads last year, nearly 300 less than in 1969, the news agency C.T.K. reported. In the accidents, 2,026 persons were killed and 9,312 seriously injured.

Ali Is Back in Dancing Form

By IRA BERKOW
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK—(NEA)—In his fight against Jimmy Ellis, Muhammad Ali showed that he can still fight on his toes. But questions were raised as to whether he could do it with Joe Frazier pummeling him in the belly.

Ali said that he will fight his old dancing fight the next time he meets Frazier, that he fought flat-footed the first time because he was no longer confident in his stamina.

Cus D'Amato, trainer of such champions as Floyd Patterson and Jose Torres and one of the most knowledgeable men in the fight game, believes Ali can fight that kind of fight against Frazier.

"Ali can take a punch," said D'Amato. "He didn't prove it against Ellis because Ellis couldn't hit him, and when he did Ellis didn't land two solid punches the whole night. But Frazier hit him and he survived."

"But the most impressive demonstration was when Ali fought George Chuvalo and actually hit Chuvalo hit him in the stomach. Chuvalo couldn't make a dent and that took the bullets out of Chuvalo. Ali Chuvalo can hit too."

D'Amato, by the way, has recently filed papers to bankrupt a strange thing for a man who has made $2 million in the fight game. But Torres said that D'Amato was such an easy touch to friends and a great fighter battling the elements subversive to the state that the money went down the drain.

Shrink 'Pot' With Exercise

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb — I am a young man in my mid-20s. I would consider myself a little underweight for my height. What bothers me is that I seem to have gotten that sagging stomach problem. I have noticed most of my peers also have this.

I don't drink beer. I eat moderately and exercise regularly. Why does this happen and what can I do to have a nice firm abdominal region for the rest of my years?

Dear Reader — You are right, this is a common occurrence. That little pot in the lower abdomen can develop even if you are not obese. It is caused by lack of muscle strength of the lower abdominal muscles.

Except in very active people most exercise does not work these muscles. Sitting at a desk helps to lose tone of the lower abdominal muscles. Walking and running on the level won't use these muscles either. The way many people do sit-ups will not put these muscles under load.

Sit-ups to strengthen the abdominal muscles should be done with the knees flexed and the heels up toward the buttocks. Otherwise a person will use the hip muscles more than the abdominal muscles to help pull up the body. The upper abdomen can be helped by assuming this position and then sitting up halfway, relaxing, then sitting up again.

The lower abdomen is best put under load by holding the legs extended and stiff with the heels held just off the floor, while lying on the back. In this same position pedaling the feet (not straight up but straight out) is helpful. Holding the heels just off the floor and spreading the feet apart then closed and then apart again is a good exercise.

Finally, in almost any position you can consciously contract your lower abdominal muscles and keep them contracted as tight as possible, then relax and then contract again. In this way you will gradually improve or maintain their tone.

I think it is worth making these efforts because the support to the abdominal organs in the upright position is important for all of us creatures who insist on walking upright and sitting a great deal. You are very wise to think about this now. It is a lot easier to prevent a pot than correct it.

This is a good time to warn people against the use of electrical devices to strengthen their abdominal muscles and prevent developing a pot. Just recently a healthy 22-year-old man in San Antonio, Tex., was using such a device and was electrocuted. The device was operated with a small electric motor with wires attached to a belt fastened around the abdomen. The device had been used for several years by the family before the accident. The Federal Trade Commission has outlawed these devices and if anyone has any around they should be discarded immediately.

PERSONAL FINANCE

Warnings have been issued previously about the low blow to the pocketbook that many taxpayers will experience, with excruciating pain for a lot of them, come next April. Reports from corporate payroll offices indicate that, so far, not much has been done to soften the blow. So—once more the admonishing finger is wagged.

What is going to happen, unless something is done soon by millions of employees, is a great outcry of anguish next April 15 when taxpayers are forced to fork over extra cash—large sums of it, in many cases. The withholding schedules being used this year aren't withholding enough.

Prime candidates for the tax squash are families in which both husband and wife are wage earners. Salaried employees with earnings above $12,000 are also liable to get clouted.

As briefly as possible, here's what happened: The Tax Reform Act that became law last year provides for step-up increases in the standard deduction, eventually reaching 15 per cent of income, up to a maximum $2,000, in 1973. For the current tax year it's 13 per cent, maximum $1,500.

The withholding schedules supplied to employers are based on deductions of 13 per cent. But if a working man and wife use the standard deduction, they're limited to the $1,500 maximum—only one for the two of them, on a joint return.

Harry earns $10,000 and his wife, Wilma, earns $8,500. Each is using only one exemption for withholding purposes which ordinarily should result in enough being withheld from pay to cover their tax bill. But because of that 13 per cent figure, their combined withholdings will amount to about $2,200. The tax they'll actually have to pay will be about $2,600—leaving them short $400 that has to be raised somewhere.

There's the same problem for single taxpayers earning more than $11,538. With earnings of $14,500, a deduction of $1,885 is assumed. If the taxpayer uses the maximum standard deduction of $1,500, he'll be underwithheld by about $100.

The IRS estimates that as many as 20 million taxpayers may find withholding insufficient next April. All working couples probably come in this category.

You can determine whether you're going to be short by looking at paycheck stubs and figuring what your withheld tax will amount to over the year. Then estimate your tax bill, if you're going to use the standard deduction, by subtracting from your gross income (total pay) 13 per cent of the amount, but not more than $1,500. From that result, subtract $850 for each exemption. What's left is your taxable income. If you'll file a joint return, figure next April's tax bill this way:

• $4,000 to $8,000 — $620 plus 19 per cent of the excess over $4,000.

• $8,000 to $12,000—$1,380 plus 22 per cent of the excess over $8,000.

• $12,000 to $16,000—$2,260 plus 25 per cent of the excess over $12,000.

If your taxable income is over $16,000, you need a tax accountant. The jungle of tax rules being what it is, it's an odds-on bet he'll save you money.

If your calculations indicate your withholdings won't cover your tax next April, figure out how much extra

British Turn to Metric System

By DONALD M. MCNICOLL
Associated Press Writer

LONDON (AP) — The British are losing their scruples, and it has nothing to do with morality.

The scruple is a unit of measure, on the way out along with drams, grains, ounces, pounds, hundredweights, pecks, quarters and bushels.

This is part of the movement to adopt the metric system, and a forecast of things to come in the United States if Congress agrees to a recommendation of the Commerce Department.

Most of the measurements known as imperial are gradually giving way here to the metric system, which is easier to figure because it splits things by decimals. For example, 10 meters make a kilometer and 1,000 make a dekameter.

The imperial measurements being abandoned by Britain are in some cases the same as U.S. measures, in other cases not. A foot is 12 inches, in both countries but the imperial gallon used in Britain and Canada is about a fifth larger than the U.S. gallon. In Britain, gasoline eventually will be sold in liters rather than gallons. This is already the way it's done in Europe.

Britain is doing the shift to metric gradually, and there is no present intention to do away with the pint measure for beer and milk.

The metric system would use half a liter, slightly more than a pint, but the common man isn't willing to make this swap. Metric enthusiasts believe the pint eventually will become an anachronism, however.

The government's Metrication Board is confident Britain will be substantially a metric country by 1975, or 10 years after the nation began going metric.

To date some segments of industry are completely metric and other sections as far from it as ever.

Metrication has hardly hit the ordinary shopper as yet.

Many packages list weights or volumes in both imperial and metric measures, but goods specifically metric won't become really noticeable in stores until next year. No dramatic changeover will come as in February when the British switched to decimal currency from their old pounds, shillings and pence.

There's no word of any butcher, fishmonger, or confectioner selling by the kilogram—2.2 pounds. But you can buy cloth at quite a few places by the meter instead of the slightly smaller imperial yard.

Britain's metrication is designed first for the foreign market and second for the domestic consumer.

Actually, elements of metric system have been taught in the schools here for generations, alongside the imperial system.

Carnival Queen Is Chosen

BATESVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Becky Bray, 22, of Fort Smith, was chosen queen of the White River Carnival here Saturday night.

Susan Tichenor, 20, of Pine Bluff was selected first runner-up and Terry Lynn Campbell, 20, of North Little Rock was named second runner-up.

Generators That Broke Down in Combat Sold to U.S. Government

By MIKE SHANAHAN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A congressional report says hundreds of electric generators that broke down in combat in Vietnam were sold to the U.S. government under "a tangled web of contractor influence over Marine Corps personnel."

The report, released Sunday by the House Armed Services investigating subcommittee, said: "The defective generators adversely affected the Marine Corps combat capability in Vietnam, and may have contributed to combat casualties."

The subcommittee said the report, dealing "for the most part, with petty corruption in low places," has been turned over to the Justice Department for possible prosecution.

"The persons involved might be classified as minor public officials, yet they effectively controlled the spending of millions of taxpayers' dollars," the report said.

Makers of the generators said their products met all government requirements and blamed the problem on untrained Marine mechanics.

Build by the Consolidated Diesel Electric Co. of Old Greenwich, Conn., the generators turned up with missing pistons, loose screws, frayed wiring and cracked fuel tanks, according to the report.

It said within seven months after shipment, the first 300

England Charges Europeans

LONDON (AP) — British airline pilots charge that West German and French fighter planes have been buzzing them in apparent practice attacks, threatening a repeat of the recent Japanese collision disaster.

"We are extremely concerned at the number of near-misses involving military aircraft over Europe," the British Airline Pilots Association said in a statement to the Sunday Express. "We are more disturbed that when we try to chase up these near-misses we meet a stone wall of denials every time."

The West German and French governments had no immediate comment on the accusations.

The pilots claimed that the military fliers buzzed them repeatedly and apparently locked them in their gun sights before veering off. A spokesman said there were eight near misses over West Germany last year.

"It is well known that civil aircraft flying at 30,000 feet or more make an ideal target for young fighter pilots under training," said a spokesman for the British pilots' association. He maintained it was "commonplace" for the military planes to approach "close enough for them to register a 'kill' and at the same time present the sort of hazard that may have caused the Japanese disaster."

He referred to the death of 162 persons in the collision of a Japanese airliner and a Japanese fighter on July 30. It was the worst disaster in aviation history.

Man must go back to nature for information.—Thomas Paine, political leader of the American Revolution.

units sent to Vietnam were out of commission.

Failure of the generators, designed to power radar units for spotting enemy mortars near Danang, may have led to Marine casualties, the report said.

Since 1967, the report said, Consolidated has been awarded four contracts totaling more than $27 million to build 7,000 generators.

Daniel Elmore, a civilian contracting official for the Marine Corps, and a man described as his friend, Daniel Ross, Consolidated's Washington representative, were named by investigators as principals in the case.

Elmore, the report said, got his job when Ross told him of an upcoming opening in the Pentagon.

Even after defects began appearing in the generators, Elmore approved awarding an option for $3.4 million in additional generator contracts, the report said.

Later, another close friend of Ross', Jennings McLain, engineered approval of a contract to Consolidated for a different type generator despite lower bids submitted by two competitors, the report said.

McLain, at the time director of the Marine Corps procurement division, later did legal work for Ross, the report said.

Subcommittee investigators estimated repairs to all the faulty generators would cost $2.6 million.

In its statement denying any wrongdoing, Consolidated said, "All generator sets were built to government specifications and under government supervision."

Veteran Aids Indians

By MARTIN HIRSCHMAN
Associated Press Writer

DETROIT (AP) — Overcoming the Vietnam war injury that took his left leg, husky Blackfoot Indian John Gobert has blazed a trail bringing health services to his Indian brethren in the isolated village of Supai, 2,400 feet below the rim of the Grand Canyon.

Now 29 years old, Gobert was born and raised on an Indian reservation at Browning, Mont. He joined the Navy in 1960, and during his second tour of duty in Vietnam in 1965 he lost his leg when he stepped on a land mine.

After 10 months in a Naval hospital learning to walk on a false leg, Gobert returned to civilian life.

In 1969, he took a pioneering assignment with the U.S. Indian Health Service in Arizona. The job was to bring medical care and public health programs to the 300 Havasupai Indians living in almost complete isolation down the steep cliffs of the Grand Canyon.

After hurriedly taking courses from the U.S. Public Health Service at Phoenix and Tucson, Ariz., on health care, Gobert spent 18 months in Supai helping what medical help he could and arranging to have the seriously ill removed to the nearest town—80 miles away—by helicopter.

As a result of his success, the U.S. Public Health Service has organized a program of training Indians to bring medical services to some of the most isolated tribes in the western part of the nation.

Gobert, who is helping to coordinate the training and placement of 10 new Indian medics, has been named the year's Outstanding Disabled American Veteran by the 350,000-member Disabled American Veterans.

Some 3,000 delegates of the group are in Detroit for their annual convention.

In addition to operating a medical clinic and public health program, Gobert spent many hours in Supai traveling the treacherous cliff trails on horseback to make house calls.

Gobert won the confidence of the villagers—"a real tribute" to him, explains Dr. Charles S. McCammon, medical director of the Phoenix area Indian Health Service, "for the Havasupai people are not noted for their acceptance of outsiders." Gobert modestly discounts any difficulties in achieving acceptance by the Havasupais.

"I could have had two heads and three arms on one side as long as I could look after their health," he said.

Jethro of Homer and Jethro Dies

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — A stunned Kenneth Burns, mandolin-playing Jethro of the comedy duo Homer and Jethro, says he will "take some time to think things over" before performing again following the death of his partner, Henry D. Haynes.

"I am just shocked," Burns said Sunday. "It's like 40 years of my life are gone. I don't have any idea what I am going to do now."

Haynes, 51, who was Homer, the guitar player, died Saturday of a heart attack hours before a scheduled appearance at the Great Midwest Fair in Crete, Ill.

He and Burns began their 40-year term career in 1932 as youngsters playing background music for a radio station in Knoxville, Tenn. They went on to record more than 50 albums and make numerous night club and television appearances.

Their hits included renditions of "The Battle of Camp Kukumonga," "Daddy Sang Bass," and "Let Me Go, Blubber."

Many of the greats of country and Western Music are expected to attend funeral services for Haynes Wednesday in his hometown of Lansing.

"Our career was something other guys just took for granted," Burns said. "We never had any real high spots or low spots in our career."

Burns said he preferred night club performing in the North because "that's where we always got our biggest reception."

Firefighters Elect President

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) — Paul S. Benton, captain and training officer for the Camden Fire Department, has been elected president of the Arkansas State Firefighters Association.

Benton's election came Saturday at the association's convention here, during which the group adopted a resolution asking the General Assembly to pass a tax on hotel and motel rooms with funds going to the firemen's pension fund.

Monday, August 9, 1971

The Association, which represents about 7,000 firemen in the state, suggested a tax of 50 cents a room.

The association also adopted a resolution asking that a 1921 act be amended so that firemen could contribute up to 6 per cent of their annual income to a pension fund. The current limit is 3 per cent of a fireman's annual income.

Mailmen in the United States first were paid salaries in 1863.
